Univair does not provide installation, repair or restoration services at this time.

To find an A&P (Airframe and Powerplant) mechanic, you can check with local aviation maintenance shops, repair stations, or flight schools. You can also explore aviation-specific resources like the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA.gov), the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association (AOPA.com) and the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA.com). Additionally, local FBOs (Fixed Base Operators) or aviation-related organizations can provide recommendations. Aircraft type clubs are excellent resources for finding a good A&P mechanic, especially if you own a less common or specialized aircraft.
